

CONTENU SONORE

Instruments-Chant: Foresinger: Hans Andrias Jacobsen	Forme d'expression: Summary: Sjurdur's father Sigmundur is killed by the sons of Hunding. Regin the smith makes a sword for Sjurdur, so that he can revenge his father's death. When he has done that, he has to go out to kill the big snake on Glitraheidi protecting a store of gold. Regin the smith has made him promise to bring him the heart of the snake for the sword he made. On his way there Sjurdur is met by the God Odin, who gives him advice how to get hold of the snake, and escape Regin's plans of killing Sjurdur. Regin the smith is said to be brother to the snake, and is being killed by Sjurdur after he has killed the snake. After eating the snake's heart Sjurdur is able to understand bird's
	TEXTE tongue, and he gets hold of the gold and brings it home.
Noté par:	Traduit par:
Langue d'origine:	Traduction:

Observations: